Major New Residential Subdivision Planned For Upland

Democracies Pit Power Against Communism

TALES OF Two Cities

WARMED UP

Mrs. Rose Hanson, 138 J street, who returned yesterday from nearly a three-month stay in New York, had to take up a "warmup cure" before returning to Upland and California.

After going through the severe cold and snowstorms in the east, Mrs. Hanson felt it would be necessary to go somewhere and get "warmed up" before returning home. So, she went to Florida for two weeks and after having been sufficiently thawed out arrived in Upland yesterday. Needless to say, she is happy to be back.

CUCAMONGA DAY

Those in charge of "Cucamonga Day" festivities at the Orange show tomorrow night promise that the program will really put Cucamonga "on the map". And here all along we thought Jack Benny had taken care of that.

UPLAND DAY

Even though Upland doesn't have an exhibit at the Orange show, Jackie Renfo, "Miss Upland of 1948", will be on hand to represent the city next Monday, which is "Upland Day". Also, Mrs. George N. West, Upland librarian, will be in charge of the county library booth.

RUARK TODAY

While columns by Bob Ruarke the last two days were more of an "expose" nature, his dispath from Houston, Tex., today is on the entertaining side. Read it and see for yourself. By the time you're through you'll feel you've spent at least two or three months in Houston, at least. Really well worth your time.

SCHOOL PAGE

Quite a few people have asked us about our school page. Due to a variety of reasons, we've been unable to publish it the past two weeks but will resume publication next week. It will appear either on Tuesday or Wednesday.

QUEEN EXPERT

They're still calling I. T. McFadden a "queen expert". So, don't be surprised of one of these days you see a new enterprise in Upland. Probably something with a name like "McFadden's Follies, Everyone of Them a Queen". Remember, Mac, I want 10 percent.

GIVE NOW

We just want to remind you again that the Upland Red Cross 1948 fund campaign is still going on and anything that you can give will be of great value in continuing the work of the Red Cross. Don't wait to be called on. Take your money to either of the two banks or to the Red Cross building next door to the Upland city hall.

PRIZE PICTURES

We feel pretty good about being able to secure the 1947 AP prize-winning pictures for our readers and friends. So, don't feel hesitant about coming in and taking a look at them starting next Monday, Mar. 15. They're really worthwhile.

LATE BIRTHDAY

We received this too late to include in our "Today's Birthday column" so we want to make note of it here. Tomorrow, Mar. 13, little Linda Jean Woltman will celebrate her first birthday along with the others mentioned in the regular birthday column on page 4 today.

Nation's Plan Given by Truman; Democracies Sign 50-Year Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman today pitted this country's full political power and prestige against the spread of communism anywhere—including China.

At the same time a five-point administration plan began to emerge; a plan for coming to grips with what secretary of State Marshall considers a "great crisis" in the world.

Within a few hours of each other, both the president and his secretary of state spoke out with extraordinary frankness on the state of affairs resulting from the bitter conflict between Russia and the western powers.

For the first time publicly, the Chief Executive admitted that his faith in the attainment of a real world peace has been somewhat shaken. He said so at a White House news conference late yesterday.

Great Crisis

Marshall, appearing last night before a meeting of the Federal Council of Churches, declared flatly that "the world is in the midst of a great crisis, inflamed by propaganda, misunderstandings, anger and fear."

The President was in the audience and heard Marshall couple with his pronouncement of crisis and appeal for moderation, calm thinking and cool judgment on the part of the American people.

Mr. Truman himself had said earlier that Americans should be careful not to let their passions get the better of them before they know all the facts.

Out of the President's news conference comments and Marshall's brief speech came the pattern of administration policy for meeting the crisis.

U. S. Policy

Officials expect that crisis to reach a climax first and most directly in the Italian political campaigns leading up to elections there April 18. Here are the points

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Britain, France and the Benelux nations adopted today a 50-year treaty for a political, economic and military union of Western Europe intended to check the march of communism.

Conference officials said the accord and allied documents will be signed here next Wednesday by the foreign ministers of Belgium, Britain, France, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The text of the agreement will not be released until the signature ceremony, to give the five governments of the negotiators opportunity to examine it closely, the officials said.

Delegates from the five countries, including four of the world's greatest colonial powers, completed their efforts—on the western union suggested in January by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—after more than a week around the conference table.

Sir George Rendel, chief of the British delegation and Britain's ambassador here, said upon emerging from the conference room that the delegates had agreed among themselves not to communicate any of the substance of the treaty before their governments approve it.

'Crisis' Vote Looms in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "great crisis" Secretary of State Marshall says is gripping the world sped the Senate toward a crucial vote on his European recovery program.

The issue was whether the Marshall plan bill should carry the $5,300,000,000 first year figure now planned or be cut to $5,000,000,000 as proposed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Friends and foes alike agreed that today's vote would be the major test.

The bill itself is due to be approved—with one amount or the other—late tonight or tomorrow.

It then will go to the House, which yesterday was asked by President Truman to give western Europe an additional $55,000,000 in stopgap aid by April 1.

The President said the money is needed to keep the supply lines to non-communist countries filled until Marshall plan help is available. And he termed it a matter of "extreme urgency" that the plan itself be approved quickly.

Congressional leaders now estimate this will be about April 10—just eight days before the Italian elections which may bring the crisis to its first climax.

U. S.-Britain Sign Film Agreement

LONDON, (AP)—An agreement was signed today ending Hollywood's ban on movie shipments to Britain, the United States film industry's main foreign market.

The pact, effective for four years beginning June 14, provides for the lifting of the 75 per cent tax that Britain clamped on the earnings of foreign movies last August as a dollar-saving measure.

In return, Hollywood agrees to limit its dollar takings from Britain, whose economy is threatened by a shortage of hard currency.

Czechs Mourn Masaryk Death

PRAGUE (AP)—A line of weeping mourners nearly two miles long filed through Czernin palace today to place flowers on the bier of Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

Masaryk's body lay in state from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m., but the throng was so vast the doors of the palace opened an hour early to permit school children to pass through.

As the mourners filed through the huge square in front of the palace where Masaryk fell to his death Wednesday, others queued up below for the walk up Hradcany mountain.

Meanwhile, the communists were strengthening their control of Czechoslovakia with a program of reorganization and legislation in a dominated parliament.

They also claimed new evidence of opposition plotting against the government in a report of the confession and suicide of a non-communist political leader, Josef Herod.

That suicide was the second such to be reported officially this week. The government said Masaryk took his life by jumping out of an apartment window Wednesday.

Masaryk, right, of Czechoslovakia, who is reported to have jumped to his death in Prague, is shown in his last public appearance in the city's old town square during celebration of the 98th birthday anniversary of his father, March 7, the late Thomas G. FIRST IN COUNTY

News-Herald To Have Prize Photo Exhibit

News pictures which the Associated Press has judged to be the best taken in 1947 will be on exhibition at the Daily News-Herald, 257 East Ninth street, for a full week starting Monday.

This is the first showing of the photos in San Bernardino county in 1948, and one of the first in Southern California, Associated Press officials declared.

Every person in the community is most cordially invited to visit the News-Herald office between the hours of three and five to view the exhibit, which will conclude next Friday.

The pictures to be displayed are all winners in a contest sponsored by the AP for metropolitan and smaller dailies of California and Nevada. In all, 48 top photos will be exhibited.

Included in the showing will be "Mother's Tragedy", a spot-news photo which earned for Paul Calvert of the Los Angeles Times first place in that division in the national AP photo contest.

The exhibit is broken down into three classifications — spot news, features and sports. The photos range in subject from violent death to the humorous poses assumed by athletes during the high speed action of team competitions.

Fill Vacancy On Upland Library

The appointment of Mrs. Marian Williamson to fill the vacancy on the Upland public library staff created by the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Hergonson was made by members of the library board at their meeting last night.

Other matters approved by the board was the participation of the Upland library in the management of a county library booth at the National Orange show, and the purchase of a record player.

Paul Hottel presided in the absence of Harold W. Cook, president, and other members attending were the Rev. John A. Luther and Mrs. A. L. Weber.

Price Files For Assembly

Confirming his announcement of a month ago that he would again seek re-election as assemblyman, R. Fred Price, Upland, yesterday filed nomination papers with County Clerk Harry L. Allison.

Mr. Price will bid for support on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, and is the only person so far to file in the 72nd assembly district.

Also taking out his papers yesterday was Frederick Rose, Fontana resident, fourth entrant in the 21st Congressional race. A registered Republican, Mr. Rose has circulated nomination papers on both tickets.

Citrus Crop Disappointing

SACRAMENTO (AP) — "February was a disappointing month for California citrus farmers."

That statement came today from R. E. Blair, state department of agriculture statistician.

He blamed the continued lack of rainfall and cold nights which made it necessary for many growers to light smudge pots to protect their groves. The drought continues to limit the size of the fruit.

Blair's latest figures show California's 1947-48 orange harvest will total 49,400,000 boxes, including 30,300,000 of valencias and 19,100,000 of navels and other varieties.

(Florida will lead in orange production, he figures, with 59,000,000 boxes).

SCHOOL BOARD

Fails To Act On Salary Schedule

Upland school board members met in a two-hour session yesterday but adjourned without taking action on the proposed teacher salary schedule.

Extended discussion failed to resolve differences of opinion centering on the ability of the district to meet the tax levies which would be required.

District Superintendent Harold W. Cook had estimated the salary boosts embodied in the proposed schedule would necessitate a 15-cent raise in the tax rate. A special election would have to be called to authorize it.

Lewis Moore, teacher's club salary chairman, is scheduled to confer this afternoon with Dr. Lloyd Nelson of the California Teachers association in Los Angeles.

Plans Report

District budget figures will be gone over. Mr. Moore is scheduled to report findings to the local trustees at their next meeting.

Non-certificated employes of local schools must be placed under the California Employe Retirement plan by July 1 of this year.

That information was given board members by Mr. Cook. State law, the superintendent explained, now requires every school district in the state to embrace the plan.

Several have done so voluntarily—Chaffey among them—but the local schools have never taken the step.

Act Explained

Under the act, the county superintendent of schools is empowered to establish the deadline in his county. Supt. C. Burton Thrall has named July 1 as the final date here.

A considerable initial outlay of funds will be required, as the district must make up all contributions for prior service with no cost to the worker. Thereafter, the annual charges are split 50-50 between the employes and the district.

However, the initial cost may be amortized over a 20, 25 or 30-year period, Mr. Cook explained.

In their only other action at the special meeting, board members authorized purchase of 14 pairs of Kalamein doors for the Upland Elementary school. Cost will be $24.85.

Haack Heads Local Chamber Promotion

A more aggressive promotional program for Upland as a community and Upland as a business center was approved at this morning's meeting of the Upland chamber of commerce directors.

George Haack was named the new chairman of the business promotion committee, succeeding the late C. Dean Miller. Mr. Miller had started an active program and under Mr. Haack's direction a long range program of promotion will be considered.

The directors' meeting in the Sugar Bowl cafe heard a report from Manager Andrew Morrison of a special plan for presenting Upland's advantages to interested industrial firms. Mr. Morrison gave a detailed report on a survey for two concerns considering the possibility of locating here.

Ralph Scott, local jeweler and chairman of the community events committee, was chosen a director of the chamber to fill the vacancy left by the death of Mr. Miller. J. Harry Snowden was elected vice-president, a position held by Mr. Miller. Harland P. Horak was chosen treasurer.

Presided over by President I. T. McFadden, the meeting was attended by the following directors, including Mrs. Paul G. Hottel, Ellery F. Wright, Mr. Snowden, Mr. Horak, Owen Davis, Mrs. Sam B. Rowe, William Walton, Mr. Haack and Vernon V. Paine.

The board recommended that Upland business firms close from 2 to 3 p. m. on Good Friday for special church services.

10-Acre Tract On 23rd Street Gets Approval

A 10-acre subdivision, which will include 32 large residential lots, is being planned for the north side of Twenty-third street, between San Antonio and Euclid avenues.

This was disclosed last night at the meeting of the Upland planning commission which approved tentative plans for the project.

Work of subdividing the lots will begin very shortly, according to O. O. Boyd, Ontario realtor who with H. G. Caldwell is co-owner.

The lots are expected to be on the market in approximately 45 days.

"All of the lots will be exceptionally large, averaging about one-third of an acre each," Mr. Boyd said," "and there will be a number that will be even larger."

It will be a restricted subdivision and several lots on the bluff will also be available.

No construction of homes is contemplated by Mr. Boyd and Mr. Caldwell, with the lots to be sold individually to private parties desiring to build their own homes.

Given Variance

H. M. Sturges, 132 West Eighth street, was granted a variance by the planners and will be allowed to convert his present residence into two separate apartments of four rooms each. Although the lot is now zoned for single family residences, Mr. Sturges said that he needed to make the change in order to provide a place to live for relatives.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter to C. F. Eppler outlining to him the conditions under which the planning commission would approve his record of survey map. Acting under instructions from the Upland city council, the commission went on record requiring that Mr. Eppler increase the width of the alley between Tenth and Twelfth avenue, south of Ninth street, to 36 feet and make the front of the two lots to 56.5x135.65.

John Wilkins withdrew his request to build a service station on Ninth street between Thirteenth and Bodenhamer avenues when it was discovered that to conform to the city's requirements very little of the lot would remain for his use. The planners said that it would be necessary for Mr. Wilkins to give 66 feet on each side of the 80-foot channel, thus leaving only 21 feet of the 233 foot lot for Mr. Wilkins' use.

Approved

The request of Vernon K. Sheets to subdivide lots on Ninth streets between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets was approved providing he filed a record of survey map with the city.

More opportunities than ever exist for the youth and today's problems present a real challenge, Chaffey high school speakers said in a program at the Upland Lions club at noon yesterday.

FIGHT AGAINST PREJUDICES, INEQUALITY TOLD BUSINESS WOMEN BY DR. HENRY COOK

How much the gulf of racial prejudice against the Mexican-American people as well as other races had been lessened, and how near Americans are to bridging the gulf was told members of the Upland Business and Professional Women's club by Dr. Henry Cook.

Professor of history at the Claremont graduate school, Dr. Cook addressed the group at their regular meeting held last night in the Upland Woman's clubhouse.

Specific illustrations of how Mexican-American and peoples of other races were discriminated against were given by Dr. Cook in his talk. An optimistic note was sounded at the conclusion of his address when Dr. Cook pointed out how much had been in the direction of eliminating prejudice and how much would be done in the very near future.

Dr. Cook was introduced by Miss Elizabeth Biles, chairman for the evening.

Conducting the meeting as president, Miss Ethel Jean Wilson told of the biennial convention to be held in Fort Worth, Texas, during the summer and urged anyone who possibly could to attend. Miss Wilson will attend as the club's official delegate.

Republicans Tab $4 Billion Tax Slash For Early Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders today tabbed their $4,700,000,000 tax cut bill for action next week.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) announced that goal was set at a meeting of the Republican policy committee. Debate may not begin until the middle of the week but the aim is to get final action by the week's end.

The Senate finance committee voted 10 to 1 last night for a tax slash of that size.

In doing so, it whittled $1,800,000,000 from the $6,500,000,000 tax bill passed overwhelmingly by the House Feb. 2.

The purpose of the Senate strategy is to try to win enough Democratic votes to pass a bill over the Presidential veto the Republicans expect. That would take a two-thirds majority in both the Senate and House.

Except for one major change which trimmed the amount of the cut, the Senate measure is practically the same as the House bill.

The Senate bill provides for percentage tax cuts ranging from 12.6 per cent for those with net incomes of up to $2,000; 7.4 per cent on incomes of from $2,000 to $136,719; and 5 per cent on incomes over $136,719.

The range of House bill reductions is 30 per cent on incomes up to $1,000; 30 to 20 per cent between $1,000 and $1,395; 20 per cent between $1,395 to $4,000; and —over $4,000—20 per cent on the first $4,000 and 10 per cent on the rest.

In all cases these cuts are applied to income after deductions and exemptions.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Senate finance committee, said 70.5 per cent of the tax relief provided by the Senate bill would go to persons making $5,000 or less after deductions but before personal exemptions.

COMMITTEE ACTION

Twenty Per Cent Cut in State Taxes Placed Before Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Whether the major state taxes will be cut by 20 per cent across-the-boards or kept at the level to which they were reduced in 1943 was put up to the membership of the two houses by committee action reported today.

The Senate taxation committee unanimously recommended continuation of the 1943 rates, which Governor Warren has estimated would result in a further taxpayer saving of $119,000,000.

The assembly revenue and taxation committee gave a 11 to 2 approval to the rival Hollibaugh-Geddes bill to lower the personal and corporation income, the sales-use and the bank and corporation franchise levies by a fifth.

ties in the county were unveiled to public view for the first time. Included are exhibits from Cucamonga and Ontario. Upland has not entered in the show this year, but will be commemorated with a 'day' Monday, March 15.

Attendance at last night's opening was 8,685—small compared to the mammoth crowds anticipated during the regular run.

The show's theme "Fiesta del Oro" has prompted the state department of agriculture to come up the some figures on comparative value of gold vs. citrus in the California economy.

As quoted by the Associated Press, gold has returned $2,266,757,000 since its discovery in 1849. Since the first plantings by the Spanish padres, citrus growers have received more —$2,935,104,000.

Cities exhibiting this year include Ventura, San Diego, Highland, West Riverside, Redlands, Chino, Pasadena, Escondido, Yorba Linda, Corona and Riverside plus the counties of Orange and Los Angeles.

Union Hold on Filmland Told

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Counsel for the major Hollywood movie producers testified today that the AFL-International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes "made threats against us and had a very powerful hold" on the film industry.

The witness, Burton K. Zorn, told a House labor subcommittee that the big producers were caught in the middle of a fierce dispute between rival unions.

"I am not here to defend the IATSE," Zorn said. "But you must recognize that the producers were the battleground for competing unions."

which the President, the Secretary—or both in some cases—stressed:

1. The European recovery program—which is now near final action in the senate but awaits House debate—should be carried out promptly.

2. The United States encourages the formation of what Marshall called a political association in Western Europe as the first step to restoring stability.

3. The spread of communist governments anywhere in the world, including China, is opposed by the American government. And Mr. Truman indicated this country will do everything in its power to block communism.

4. The United States will continue to work for world peace wherever possible, but the problem is now more difficult than at any time since the end of the war.

5. Meanwhile, the American people must keep their fears and their "passions" under control in spite of what Marshall called the "distractions" of election year campaigns here at home.

Administration Believes in Marshall Plan, Yet Has Voice of Despair

With world events moving swiftly as they are, high officials in the administration are not helping either the international situation or the general outlook of the American people by their frequent references to another World War.

President Truman's remarks in Washington yesterday is an example. For the leader of a nation which is contemplating pouring money and materials into countries fighting communism to express the feeling that his faith in world peace has been somewhat shaken creates uneasiness not only among the American people themselves but throughout the world as well.

True, the steady growth of communism in Europe is not encouraging and definite cause for alarm. But how can an administration place so much hope in the Marshall plan, reemphasize repeatedly that it will stop Russian expansion, and then tell us at the same time that its faith in the future has been shaken?

In contrast to the voices of despair and discouragement which emanate from Washington officials these days are the speeches being made by Harold E. Stassen, one of the leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination. Mr. Stassen, while realistically aware of communist dangers and the growing threats of another war, voices hope and faith in the future—a firm conviction that the United States can surmount all obstacles in its way and lead the world out of the "wilderness" into the free and democratic world that we thought we were fighting to preserve in the last war. Listening to the former governor of Minnesota, an undying hope and faith in America and its institutions are re-awakened which is something very badly needed after 16 years of "experimentation" in certain questionable directions. And Mr. Stassen isn't alone in this optimism, although he defines it most clearly. Practically every other Republican who has his eyes on the nomination expresses the same convictions—that all is not lost and that the peace can be won if able men, believing in America and its ideals, are called upon to administer it.

If one were to take everything that is said in Washington very seriously these days, it is a wonder we aren't mobilized for another war already. If the situation is that desperate, then we haven't been told about it. Instead the high command holds secret meetings and periodically we're told how very bad everything is going in Europe. Then comes the final payoff—the leader of the greatest democracy in the world has lost his faith in world peace.

The time has come—it's been long overdue—when we return men to high public office who have faith in America and its institutions. The fate of the entire world as well as our own depends on the caliber of men who lead us in the next ten years. They must be strong, intelligent men—men of honesty and integrity who do not lose faith too easily.

MARLOW
Edward U. Condon To Be In News Awhile; Work Explained

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the U. S. bureau of standards, will be in the news a while.

The bureau is an important government agency which doesn't get into the news much itself.

Here's a little on Condon's present problem.

Two weeks ago the House un-American activities committee accused him of associating, knowingly, or unknowingly, with an alleged Russian spy.

The bureau does a lot of secret work. Some of it deals with atomic energy. The committee said he is one of the "weakest links" in the nation's atomic safety.

Condon replied that he is "absolutely reliable". His bureau is part of the commerce department.

The loyalty board of that department said Feb. 24 it has found no reasonable grounds to consider Condon disloyal.

So the un-American activities committee is planning hearings on Condon's case.

Now for the bureau itself.

It has about 2,500 employes, 1,000 of them scientists.

Besides its work on atomic energy and other secrets, the bureau sets up standards in weights, measurements, and other things, and does research work, too.

For example: the government buys light bulbs. The bureau tests them, say so many from each batch.

Or the government buys hydrical thermometers—the kind you stick in your mouth to see whether you have a fever—and the bureau tests them.

Or the government buys hydrometers, instruments for testing the amount of alcohol in liquor.

Government agents, using hydrometers, can tell how much federal tax should be placed on a bottle of whisky.

In each case the bulb or thermometer or hydrometer is tested against some standard set by the bureau.

If a manufacturer, say, wants to check the true length of some measuring device he makes to sell, he can get a test for it at the bureau.

If a manufacturer or research laboratory wants to test the true weight of something it has produced, it can get the test made at the bureau.

Then the bureau does work like this:

Some firm wants to use a huge X-ray machine to test metals for flaws. But X-rays can be dangerous to people unless they're protected by something like concrete or lead.

How big a shield of concrete or lead should the firm build? The bureau makes tests on that.

Of it may test a steel girder to see how much heat and cold it can stand.

The bureau is supervising the building of a huge electronic calculating machine for the U. S. census bureau, which hopes to use it to save tremendous work in figuring out the results of the 1950 census.

Or the bureau may test certain materials that go into the walls of homes to see how those materials resist fire.

The bureau does work on radio sending and receiving. It predicts three months ahead—to the day and hour — the best wavelength to use on that day for broadcasting to Europe or Asia.

THOMPSON
Masaryk Killed Himself To Keep His Word To Father

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Jan Masaryk committed suicide. I know why. He killed himself to keep his word of honor to his dead father. And he killed himself as the one certain way to call the attention of the whole world to the murder of his country; as a warning to all men everywhere who are still free. What he did was, I am certain, absolutely deliberate. There was nothing now that he could do for his country. But he could do one more thing for human freedom: he gave his life for it.

In the spring of 1945 I was in London, and had a conversation with Jan in the offices of the Czechoslovak embassy. That very day the American delegates who were starting to present their credentials to the provisional Czechoslovak government in Kosisce had been ordered to postpone their visit. The order had come, not from the Czechoslovak embassy, but from the Soviet embassy in London. The Czechoslovak embassy had not even been informed of the step by the Russians. Jan told me this confidentially, saying rather bitterly, "We begin our liberation in a strange way. Apparently our affairs are to be ordered by our Russian allies."

Then, with that wry humor that protected a fundamentally melancholy and sensitive nature, he said:

"Dorothy, things will be different after this war. Nothing can be put together again as it was. Russia is great and strong, and Czechoslovakia is like a little drugstore in comparison with, say, British Imperial Chemicals. I'll go all the way with Russia up to one point. If we are ever asked to yield our minds and souls—then papa and mama will come and stand beside me, and papa will shake his finger at me, and he will say, 'No do, Johnny. Remember whose son you are.' And then I will no do."

Jan Masaryk, like all Czechs, was wounded to the heart by Munich. He used to talk about the light-hearted way the former American ambassador in London, Joseph Kennedy, had taken the delivery of Czechoslovakia over to Hitler.

"My God, he didn't even have any tact or sympathy about it!" he said.

Masaryk's bitterness over Munich led him initially to be very pro-Russian. But before the war was over, he was on to the Czech communists. Actually, he was half a prisoner of the wretched Gottwald, whose agents watched him constantly. Many of his old friends, like myself, came to know that it was embarrassing to him, perhaps even dangerous, to associate with persons known to be outspokenly angry over Russian encroachments. Rarely and with very old friends, he blew off.

"I feel like a swine," he said, once. "I am a stinking coward."

But Masaryk was not a coward, he was a man pinioned on the horns of an insoluble dilemma. Dr. Eduard Benes and he stood between the Czech republic and what has now happened. No Russian could claim that either had been anything but absolutely loyal to the Russian ally. Both had leaned over backward to appease Russia. Both had never, in public, uttered a word that could give the Soviets any ground for overturning the Czechoslovak state.

But the sense of justice was ineradicable in this most unfortunate man. When I read the words attributed to him after the putsch I did not join his attackers. I could, I thought, discern in his words his old irony.

Behind a phrase ostensibly accepting the fait accompli was a mordant hit at the Soviet Union.

During the last week, the men who fought for Czechoslovakia, companions of Masaryk since childhood, teachers, judges, journalists, and old confidants of his father, have been thrown into jail or ticketed for slave labor. Everything that Thomas Garrigue Masaryk, founder of the republic, cherished as the necessary foundations for a civilized state—law, justice and, above all, the free mind and unintimidated spirit—were crushed. Men who had fought for the nation and suffered years in concentration camps were being purged, and collaborators, informers, and spies—some of them men who had earlier served the Germans—were being elevated to office.

Then papa and mama stood at their son's side, saying, in his mind, "Johnny, no do." (It was too late, then, to do more than what Jan Masaryk did.) But in his death he cries to us: stop these scoundrels before your fate is the same as mine: death or utter slavery and dishonor.

RUARK
Houston Is Brawling Team, But Growing Like Wildfire

By ROBERT RUARKE

HOUSTON, Tex.—It seems to me that if I were a real young buck, free-footed and fanciful, I would settle down in Houston for a few years, just to see what happens to it.

Chicago, 50 years ago, must have been a lot like Houston. So must San Francisco, both before and after the earthquake. There is a lot of frontier left in this town, because it has just begun to flex its muscles, and is on the verge of busting right out of its pants. Money, here, has not yet been totally corrupted into a starchy transaction between dyspeptic bankers. I know of one oil millionaire who still flings silver dollars to the street urchins, and another so rowdy he can't get into the town's best gaming joint, let alone the country clubs.

Houston was building even during the war, when most places weren't, and today the town is a gaunt skyscrape of upthrusting towers. They use to call Houston Jesse's town, because of Jesse Jones' encompassing clutch on it, and old Jesse is still in there pitching. But new rich characters like Glenn McCarthy are throwing millions on the rug and asking Jesse to fade it. The real eestate news is about the biggest assignment on the local papers because last month Houston topped Chicago in building permits. I believe it was Oveta Hobby, the ex-WAC boss, who once remarked for publication that it sure would be a nice town if they ever got it finished.

It is a city of great gesture. An oil man named Hugh Roy Cullen once bundled up 180 million bucks—I presume, in an old newspaper—and handed it to the city as a gift. This was regarded as a pretty good present, even in inflated times, and what H. R. does today is front-page news.

The current eminence of oil and ships and meat has made, almost, a goldrush city of Houston. They dug a deep ship channel up from Galveston, and stole that port. The oil pumps still rear up in the outer city limits, and you can see the flare of the burning, escaping gas at nights, throwing a weird glow over the half-finished town. The reek of oil is on the flat lands outside, and the shining tubes of the refineries and re-cycling plants make a surrealist scene of the drab countryside.

It sort of tickles your fancy to see a cow being milked on one side of the road and on the other a 100,000 million dollar plant which is used for milking natural gas. That's what they do with it, in the re-cycling plants—herd the natural gas into corrals of pipe and cylinders and drain it dry of its hydrocarbons, principally a high octane gasoline.

Then they turn the depleted gas out to pasture again, forcing it at tremendous pressure back into the earth. Four hundred and fifty million cubic feet of this gas gets milked daily, and 30 per cent goes back into the ground to fatten off the subterranean pastures until it is ready for milking again.

Houston is a rough, brawling town, with its residents ready to fight or play, as the mood strikes them. Its crime rate is high, and it is a bottle town, a hard drinking city which serves no effete cocktails, but expects its citizens to take a jug by the neck and kill it. It is certainly a place where a man's bank account can't be reckoned by his table manners or his costume or the company he keeps. There is not a great deal of inherited money in Houston; it was pulled out of the ground or off the pastures by its owners, and they don't have to go to the trustees to finance a tiger-bucking trip down to Galveston. High-riding Houston spends a lot of time over the week-end in Galveston, 500-odd miles away.

Galveston has become Houston's gold coast, a play city on an island — a wide open town where the slot machines spill round silver dollars on the rugs, where the crap tables are clotted with former cowhands betting $500 a crack, and where the roulette wheels spin for the ladies wearing clothes they never envisioned when they were sweating over the cookstove a few years back. The bars stand open 24 hours a day, and the music won't quit.

Oddly and conversely, much of the money isn't loud and raucous. Many a millionaire lives semi-modestly in town, and plows his money back into the ground outside. People I know, several times millionaires, take their fast-rolling dollars and stick them into 50 ranches, with no thought of more oil, but of rooting themselves firmly as farmers and ranchers into the soil that has treated them so well.

It's an exciting town, this Houston, a town which makes you feel that there's plenty more for everybody if you only want to come and get it.

HOBBS APPOINTMENT HAILED HERE; MAY RUN TEAM IN SPRING DRILLS

Selection of George Hobbs, Alhambra high school mentor, as coach of Chaffey's Pantheers for the coming year, was widely hailed today in southland sports circles.

Hobbs was announced as the Chaffey selection yesterday. He's scheduled to ink a contract following a special meeting of the school's board of trustees next Tuesday night.

The 47-year-old Alhambran was prominently mentioned for the post here two years ago, but was passed over in favor of Ray Rosso.

In Alhambra, where the likeable mentor has held sway for 21 years, school officials and businessmen expressed regret at his departure.

The Moors have three times scaled the heights as Southern California champions under Hobbs' tutelage. On seven occasions Hobbs' coached teams have captured league championships.

Commenting on the appointment, Tom Burdick, Alhambra Post-Advocate sports editor wrote "Local fans are already pointing out that he (Hobbs) will have his hands full living up to Ray Rosso's fine record. But if Hobbs' position at Chaney is a hot one, how about the man who steps into his spot here at Alhambra?"

With spring football practice recently okayed by OEC directors, it is considered probable that Hobbs may be seen on the local campus this spring. Athletic Director Harvey Snirk said this morning he had no definite information on that point as yet.

Hobbs will also coach the panther baseball team next year, as has the departing Ray Rosso.

Rugby Champions At Coliseum Sunday

Australia's famed Wallabies rugby football club, world's champions, will compete against an All Star team at the Los Angeles Coliseum Sunday afternoon. The game is being sponsored by the Southern California Rugby union and the motion picture chapter of the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Ward Nash, president of the Rugby union; Commander John Ford of the Purple Hearth Order, Bill Schroeder of the Rems athletic fundation and Deke Houlgate have arranged for special features in connection with the Coliseum contest.

Water Shortage Perils State's Game, Says Ott

SACRAMENTO, — The executive officer of the division of fish and game asked the state's sportsmen to conscientiously observe conservation laws and regulations during 1948 when fish and wildlife are expected to be more vulnerable because extreme drought conditions.

On the eve of wildlife conservation day, a part of the state's observance of Conservation Week, Emil J. N. Ott Jr. called for increased efforts in protecting wildlife resources. He said concentrated populations of deer, quail, and fish caused by water shortages will provide "serious temptations to hunters and fishermen other than sportsmen."

Browns Seen As Weakest In History

By GAYLE TALBOT

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—The surviving St. Louis Browns are training hard here in a lovely setting, and at least will be in fine shape for what is going to happen to them starting in April.

As is all too well known to the rest of the American league, the Browns have next to nothing left from President Dick Muckerman's selling spree the past winter. He disposed of what few real ball players the club possessed.

It is doubtful that any big league manager in modern times had less talent. Zack Taylor is taking over a last place club stripped of its stars.

The Browns had the weakest pitching in the league last year. Opponents earned an average of 4.33 runs per game. With Jack Kramer and Ellis Kinder gone to the Red Sox, and Bob Muncrief to Cleveland, one shudders to think what opponents might do this go-round.

Actually, it looks as though Fred Sanford, a robust right-hander, who won seven while losing 16 last year, might be Taylor's No. 1 curver. Nelson Potter, once a brilliant moundsman, just about pitched himself out last season. That leaves Sam Zoldak, who set a 9-10 mark last year, and a ball park full of rookies who might hit somebody in the head.

Chaffey Teams At Orange Show Relays

With all CBL and OEC schools in the lists, the annual Orange Show relays gets underway at 1:30 tomorrow in Orange Show stadium, San Bernardino.

Chaffey High school and college tracksters are among the entrants. Only absentees in either league is Citrus Junior college.

A full program of six relay and six field events, plus the open 100-yard dash competition, is on the program.

Athletes from all schools are scheduled to assemble at the stadium at 12:30, according to Arthur F. Schaefer, meet director.

Competition will be in the medley relay, four-man 440, four-man two mile, four-man 880, shuttle relay and four-man mile relay.

Field events listed are pole vault, shot, javelin, discus, broad jump and high jump.

Tigers Dump Chino Nine

Chaffey high school continued their non-league warring yesterday at the expense of the Chino Cowboys, in a game played at Chino.

Yochem's lads triumphed 12-4 in a loosely played contest.

In the opening of the OEC schedule today, the Panther nine travels to San Bernardino where they will oppose the San Bernardino Valley Indians at Perris Hill park.

'Mr. America' Contest Set

A "Mr. Western America" contest, to select the most perfectly built man west of the Mississippi, will be held in the Shrine Auditorium, March 13th. The contest, will be the largest event for western America's amateur physique men since the 1945 "Mr. America," which was also held in Los Angeles.

JUST LIKE LEFTY

Robert Fassler, 5-year-old San Francisco baseball fan, falls into the same managerial position behind Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco coast league Seals on the baseline in the outfield at Boyes Springs, Calif., where the Seals are training for the coming season.—AP Wirephoto.

VISITING THOROUGHBRED—The Greentree Stable's new $109,000, three-year-old thoroughbred, Doubtless, arrives by air at Augusta, Ga., from Buenos Aires en route to Aiken, S. C., for training. John Gaver, trainer for the Jock Whitney-Mrs. Charles Payson stable, said it probably would be at least five months before the horse is ready to run in the U. S.

U. S. CHANCES IN OLYMPIC MIDDLE DISTANCE RUNS ANYTHING BUT GOOD

(This is the second in a series dealing with U. S. track and field prospects in the Olympic games).

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

NEW YORK (AP)—The Olympic 400 and 800 meter titles which were brought to the United States by Archie Williams and John Woodruff in 1936 appear likely to depart at the 1948 games in London.

If Herb McKenley, the national 400 meter champion and world quarter mile record holder, could run for the United States, Uncle Sam might have a chance in the 400. But Herb will compete for his native Jamaica.

The situation is even more serious in the 800, where at least half a dozen countries boast runners whose recent achievements show them to be faster than anything the U. S. can produce at the distance.

At the moment, the American who seems best fitted to give the favored McKenley a wrestle for the 400-meter crown is Dave Bolen, smooth-striding Negro runner from Colorado.

McKenley has done 46.2, just two-tenths off the world record in the 400, and owns the world quartermile mark of 46.3. In London, he expects to compete in the 200 meters as well as the 400.

Bolen's best 400-meter time is 46.9 seconds. His chief rival for the 400-meter job on the U. S. team likely will be George Guida of Villanova, who missed catching him by less than a step at the Nationals in Lincoln, Neb., last summer.

Other American hopeful at 400 meters include Hubert Kerns, Cliff Bourland and Roy Cochran of the Los Angeles Olympic club, and Wells De Loach of Southern California.

IN SEMI FINALS

COMPTON (AP) — The Phoenix, Ariz., Bears and three California teams, Vigalia, Compton and Glendale, make up the semi final championship bracket today in the Western States Junior college basketball tournament.

Olympic Games Pix Exclusive Told

NEW YORK (AP) — J. Arthur Rank, British film magnate, said at a press conference today his interests had obtained exclusive world rights to the Olympic games this year.

TRAINING CAMP CHATTER

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) —With the signing of pitcher Johnny Sain for a reported $35,000 to $40,000, the Boston Braves are at full strength.

CUIDAD TRUJILLO, D. R. (AP) Outfielders Pete Reiser and Dick Whitman are getting a workout at first base for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

SAN BERNARDINO (AP)—Jim Wilson, Clem Dreisewerd and Al Widmar are slated to pitch today for the St. Louis Browns against UCLA in an exhibition game.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals was hoping his hitters will get wise to what bats are for in today's game against Boston's Red Sox. The Cards have twice been shut out by the Yanks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Joe DiMaggio will make his spring training debut for the New York Yankees Sunday when they meet the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition here.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) —Rookie Neil Sheridan, up from the San Francisco Seals, will be in centerfield in place of Dom DiMaggio when the Boston Red Sox make their 1948 exhibition debut against the St. Louis Cards today. Dom has a blistered throwing hand.

The planners assured Charles Benson, representing Upland Post 73, American Legion, that Washington boulevard would be eventually extended. The question was brought up by Mr. Benson who said that the post was planning to buy the property on which its clubhouse is located and would like to know the future stauts of Washington boulevard before taking any action.
Permission was granted Harry B. Dier, 258 D street, to remove a tree in front of his home. Chairman L. R. Bradley, who investigated the request, said that the tree was in bad condition and might be blown over by some future windstorm. The planners also approved the request of Otto Christensen, 249 West Fourteenth street, to remove the first five of the second 10 eucalyptus trees east of Mountain avenueon the south side of the street.
The record of survey map of E. W. Fischer for four lots on the east side of Fern between Eighth and Euclid avenue was approved, providing the tentative plans be submitted to the city council.
The planners, although indicating favorable action, tabled the following matter, pending a discussion with Charles Eliot, its planning consultant.
It is planned to rezone the north side of Nineteenth street, between Campus avenue and the Santa Fe tracks, from agricultural to residential and the south side to light manufacturing. Change to residential is also contemplated for the east side of Campus between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets and a portion of the west side of Campus.
The secretary was instructed to write a letter to the county planning commission asking that the Upland planners be more fully advised as to the rock-crushing enterprise near the city limits.

Soloists will include Eugene Smith, tenor, who came to Chaffey college this year for advanced study in music, being in the voice department and Symphonic choir under Mr. Blakeslee.

Smith was active in musical circles through his school days in Rochester, New York, and when over-seas in the army, was conductor of a chapel choir, a group which sang in many localities in Germany and was broadcast from Munich on various occasions.

Other soloists will be announced later. The public is invited, the presentation being given without charge.
